Day 1 of the Launching of the EW4ALL Initiative

Day 1 of the Launch included various presentations from the involved parties such as the Seychelles Meteorological Authority, the Disaster Risk Management Division, representatives from the UN office for Disaster Risk Reduction (UNDRR), the International Telecommunication Union (ITU), the World Meteorological Organization (WMO), the International Federation of Red Cross and Red Crescent Societies (IFRC) and our own National Society (RCSS). These presentations focused on the challenges and gaps included in regulatory frameworks, duplication in processes during disaster scenarios, current national early warning systems as well as the projects that will soon be underway to compliment the EW4ALL Initiative.

Day 2 of the Launch of the EW4ALL Initiative

The Second day of the workshop involved the continuation of the previous days' group discussion and plenary session in way of a Gap Analysis to identify national and sub-national policy, technical, financial and other gaps in Seychelles across the four pillars of EW4All. After the discussions, representatives from each pillar presented and at the end of the day suggestions, recommendations and way forward was agreed by all parties. This involved an agreement on the process for the formulation of multi-year, multi-stakeholder EW4All National Roadmap (2023-2027) to achieve universal early warning coverage in Seychelles.
